The Saskatchewan Women's Secretariat is an agency within the provincial government which ensures that women's particular needs and perspectives are considered in the development and delivery of legislation, policies and programs of government. As a central point of contact for issues that impact on women, it provides information and referral services.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

We would like to acknowledge the assistance of the many women's organizations, non-governmental organizations and government agencies listed in this Directory. Without their help, this Directory would not have been possible. Thank you for your support.

Note: The views and policies of the organizations listed do not necessarily reflect the views and policies of the Women's Secretariat or the Government of Saskatchewan. The Women's Secretariat cannot take responsibility for programs which are cancelled or do not provide the quality of service anticipated by persons using this Directory.

Introduction

Introduction

We are pleased to present this edition of the Saskatchewan Women's Directory

This Directory is designed to serve several purposes:

- to provide a ready source of information about services of interest to women;
- to provide a listing of women's organizations currently active in the province;
- to increase referral and communication between groups;
- to point out organizations women can contact to become involved; and,
- to inspire women with the diversity of activity taking place within the province.

A sincere effort has been made to include services and organizations from all areas of Saskatchewan - rural, northern and urban. In addition to the basic organizational description and main contact areas, the Regional Addresses provide lists of services and organizational representatives located throughout the province.

This Directory is organized according to subject area, and we have attempted to present the information in an accessible and logical order. We hope that you will find it useful and that you will share it with your friends, clients and co-workers.

The world of organizations and services is a dynamic one. We have attempted to ensure that the information contained in this Directory is as accurate as possible, yet, every week there are new developments as organizations form and change. Your corrections or suggestions would be appreciated. Please contact the Women's Secretariat at the address on the inside cover.

Goal is to form a positive liaison with the Regina Health District Board, to contribute to future decisions concerning women's health. Secondary goal is the eventual establishment of a comprehensive women's health centre that is community-based. The vision for the women's health centre would be a holistic, client-centred model of health care for women, based on empowerment principles. The community-based, multi-service model would ensure that women would determine how their health care services are delivered.

Aims to promote and enable a more caring and gender equitable physical education experience for all elementary and secondary school learners, from K-12. Strategies include awareness raising; mobilization of the educational community; influencing professionals, parents and students; and generating knowledge in relation to gender equity in physical education. Strives to increase the range of opportunities for students to participate in physical education activities.

Successful participation in activities of their choice will enhance the competence, confidence, self-esteem, health and lifestyle of all students including young girls and women. A package titled "Girls in Action...Speaking Out" has been developed. The Saskatchewan Physical Education Association (SPEA) is an advocate of GESI.

Saskatchewan 52% Solution

Provides networking opportunities for women and girls in sport and physical activity; secures funding for society's project initiatives; and works with the provincial government and sport and recreation delivery system to position gender equity as an evaluation criterion for funding. Developed a promotional package and workshops to assist provincial sport and recreation organizations to understand gender equity and implement appropriate changes to achieve it. Publishes a quarterly newsletter.

- Family-Related Organizations

Children and YouthBig Sisters Association

Provide guidance, support and friendship to children by matching them to mature adult women. Some programs work with boys and girls and some include dual parent families. The majority of children in Big Sisters Associations are girls from single parent families which may be headed by a female or male parent. Joint Big Brother/Big Sister organizations match both boys to men and girls to women.

Usually work with children aged five or six to age 15 or 16. Hold educational workshops and recreational activities for volunteers, children and parents. Concerned with family life, parenting skills, education and personal development. Also concerned with problems such as physical and sexual abuse, addictions and personality problems, referring children for additional assistance when needed.

Child Protection

See Social Services Regional
Addresses under Young
Offenders Program on page 26.

Child protection services are provided by the Department of Social Services and some Indian Child and Family Service Agencies, but the responsibility for the safety and well-being of children is shared by everyone in the community.

The Child and Family Services Act requires that every person who believes a child is in need of protection shall report this to a child protection worker or a peace officer. A child may be in need of protection when the parent, through acts or failure to act, exposes the child to neglect, physical abuse, sexual abuse or emotional abuse.

After-hours child protection services are provided by Mobile Crisis Services in Regina [(306) 569-2724], Saskatoon [(306) 933-6200] and Prince Albert [(306) 764-

1011]. In other locations these services are provided by emergency duty workers and the police.

Help can be provided to parents who are experiencing child protection difficulties. Services include personal, marital and financial counselling; parent aide services; day care services, self-help groups; parenting courses; programs for children with disabilities and special needs; and programs and support for single parents. Asking for help is not considered to be a sign that the person has failed as a parent. It is a sign that the parent recognizes the difficulty and cares enough about their child to do something about it.

Family and Youth Services

Saskatchewan Social Services

See Social Services Regional
Addresses under Young

Offenders Program on page 26.

Services include child protection, youth services, single parent support, adoption and services to children in foster care.

Where child protection concerns have been identified,
the Department of Social Services may provide services such as in-home support, home-makers, parent aides, parent education or life skills training. Includes referrals for assessment, counselling and therapy. Some children are taken into the care of the Minister and placed in foster homes.

The Department of Social Services provides voluntary services to teen and young parents. Services include pregnancy counselling, parenting, life skills management and education/vocational counselling.

Provides adoption services.
Prospective adoptive applicants may apply to the infant, special or international adoption program. Offers a Post-Adoption Program where searches are initiated, upon request, for birth parents and adult adoptees. Contact and exchange of identifying information occurs only with the consent of both parties.
Contact for the Post Adoption Program in Saskatchewan is

National Representative,
Women's Committee
President: Shannon Storey

Committee of representatives from each province which advises NFU women's president on national planning. Representatives also serve as a part of the NFU's regional leadership terms, responsible for co-planning and implementing NFU activities on general farm and agriculture issues. Provincial representatives work with farm women to develop strategies to involve women in NFU activities, and work to give women a voice in agriculture. Provides speakers, workshops, research and resource materials. Key themes: support women to organize in their own communities; and provide regional, national and international linkages to work for changes which will better serve farm women and their families.

Section 8VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN

The listings in this Section are grouped under the following headings:

- Shelters
- Safe Homes
- Second Stage Housing
- Crisis Services
- Counselling
- National Organizations
- Provincial Organizations
- Regional Organizations

DefinitionsAbuse

Abuse can be physical, sexual or verbal. It includes economic abuse (control of money). It also includes psychological abuse. This may involve "put-downs", persistent threats or forcing a woman to witness violence against her children, other relatives, friends, pets or cherished possessions. The abuser can be a boyfriend, husband, live-in lover, ex-husband or ex-lover.

Sexual Assault

Sexual assault is any form of unwanted or forced sexual activity. It includes date rape, sexual assault within marriage, sexual harassment, assault by a stranger, and child sexual abuse.

Shelters

Transition houses, interval houses and safe shelters are places where a woman and her children can go if she has been abused physically or psychologically, or threatened with violence by her husband or partner. They provide short-term living accommodation and crisis counselling. Counselling and support services assist women in re-establishing themselves after leaving the transition house. They may provide counselling referrals to women not needing to stay at the shelter. They frequently provide outreach educational services.

Street addresses for shelters are confidential. Please confirm that there is available space prior to making referrals. Contact the shelter in your region regarding appropriate referral procedures.

Addresses under Young Offenders Program on page 28.

Saskatchewan Assistance Plan (SAP):

Provides basic income support services for families and individuals who, for reasons such as disability, illness or unemployment, may not have sufficient resources to meet their basic living costs. Social assistance provides funds for food, shelter, utilities, clothing and special needs.

Supplementary health benefits may be provided by the Department of Health. Any person in financial need may apply for social assistance. Social Services' staff work with each applicant to establish his or her needs and resources, and develop a case plan to independence. Clients who are unable to find employment may be referred to the nearest Canada-Saskatchewan Career and Employment Services office for assistance in accessing training and employment opportunities. For more information please contact the Social Services office nearest you.

Saskatchewan Child Benefit (SCB):

Provides a monthly allowance to assist lower income families with the cost of raising children. Provides support for children whose parents are making the transition from social assistance to work, as well as parents already working in low-income jobs. Is administered on behalf of the province by Revenue Canada and benefits are combined with the Canada Child Tax Benefit.

Eligibility is determined by the amount of family income reported on the previous year's income tax return.

Saskatchewan Employment Supplement (SES):

Provides a monthly payment that supplements income earned by lower income parents from wages, self-employment and child and/or spousal maintenance payments. Assists parents with the child-related costs of going to work and supports their decision to work.

Family Health Benefits (FHB):

Administered by Saskatchewan Health, and provides supplementary health benefits to ensure that lower income working families do not fall onto social assistance because of the health needs of their children. Families receiving the SCB or SES are eligible to receive FHB.

For more information on the SCB, SES or FHB please call toll-free 1-888-488-6385 or in Regina call 787-4723.

Helps fund the development and delivery of employment-directed training for adult northerners. Prepares northerners for careers through basic skills, pre-employment and technical training programs through Northlands College. Also funds employment career symposiums, conferences and workshops on northern agriculture, small business and renewable resources.

Promotes greater northern participation in a range of small businesses and the mining service sector. Consultation with business, industry, the public service and municipal governments facilitates the placement of northerners in jobs where they receive individualized training, and ongoing job and career counselling. The goal of the program is to assist northerners to become permanent members of the active workforce.

Promotes the implementation of equal pay for work of equal value for all Saskatchewan women and influences the government to pass legislation to that end. Pay equity refers to the state of affairs in which women and men are paid fairly and equally for the work they perform. Consists of individuals and organizations and represents women and men committed to taking action to promote the economic equality of women in Saskatchewan.

Saskatchewan Business and Professional Women's Clubs

Major concern is the economic status of women, including education and training, employment and social conditions, and participation in government. Membership is composed of women engaged in business, the professions and in industry. Clubs are organized at local, provincial, national and international levels. Hold educational meetings; promote discussions concerning strategies for positive changes; co-ordinate forums; encourage co-operation with groups who have similar objectives; and develop programs to encourage a wide range of career opportunities for young women and girls. Chapters in Regina and Saskatoon.

Provides an opportunity for the people of Saskatchewan to save for their retirement. Any Saskatchewan resident between the ages of 18 and 69 can join and contribute to the Plan. Benefits those who do not have access to a private pension plan or who want to supplement their retirement income.

People do not need to have earned income or income from wages or a business to contribute to the Plan. Contributions and their accumulated earnings are tax sheltered until received as pension income. The money is professionally managed and earns a competitive rate of return each year. The funds which accumulate assure each member a lifetime monthly pension which will help supplement their other retirement income.

Plan members come from a variety of backgrounds - small business owners and employees, homemakers, farmers, part-time employees and students.

JobStart/Future Skills is an initiative of the Government of Saskatchewan. It is a coordinated effort across the Saskatchewan job market to make the most of employment opportunities of Saskatchewan residents.

There are four types of options:

Workbased Training for the Unemployed:
Designed for unemployed
residents of Saskatchewan.
Involves on-the-job training, with wage subsidies up to 50%, when the training leads to full-time sustainable employment.

Workbased Training for Employed Workers:
Designed for current employees of Saskatchewan businesses. Will subsidize up to 1/3 of approved training costs to Saskatchewan employers in order to maintain their competitive position.

Institutional Quick Response
Training:
Training through recognized public training institutions
designed for unemployed Saskatchewan residents or unemployed youth between the ages of 17-25, who have been out of school for one year, to provide them with the skills to meet immediate industry needs.

Sector Partnerships:

Designed to assist industry sectors to identify current and future skilled employment needs, identify strategies to address those needs, and to develop effective partnerships in human resource planning and skills training. For more information, contact your nearest JobStart/Future Skills Training Consultant.
